Even the past week's fierce selling was not enough to make the room required for our new Fall Stock A longer time is necessary and losses will have to continue. We are putting forth our last Herculean effort to peremptorily close out the Summer Stock. We've grappled with the condition that confronts us, and with a courage born of a grim determination to carry our point, we've carved prices as they were never carved before. A careful reading of the few items printed below will convince the most
